Welcome Our New Librarian

The Taggart Law Library welcomes Elizabeth Christian, our new reference librarian. Elizabeth began at ONU on November 12th and will be assisting with reference services, collection development, and other library operations.

Elizabeth earned her M.L.S. (Masters in Library Science) from the University of Maryland and earned a J.D. and a B.A. in English from the University of Georgia.

Before coming to ONU, Elizabeth worked in the University of Maryland library system and has special expertise in library copyright and licensing issues. She has law practice experience as a copyright, trademark, and licensing attorney at a law firm in South Carolina. Elizabeth has also worked at another law school—the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, New Hampshire—where she managed both the Innovation Public Services Clinic and the New Hampshire Inventors Assistance Program.

Elizabeth's office (#140E) is located right next to the computer lab. She can be reached at extension 2251 or by email at e-christian@onu.edu. Elizabeth is available throughout the day to help law students, faculty, and staff. She invites you to stop by with any questions that you might have.

Please welcome Elizabeth to the law school and to our community!

A Busy Fall in the Law Library

The fall semester is typically a busy time for everyone at the law school. This fall, the library staff has been involved in a number of activities to help support the research needs of the law school community.

In late August and early September, the librarians offered library tours to first year students to familiarize them with the print sources that they would be using during the fall semester. Over seventy first-year students attended these tours. Research support was also provided early in the semester for the law review, LLM students, and other upper-level classes through research guides and in-class presentations.

During September and October, the library offered more than 80 legal research workshops. This annual workshop series helps to reinforce material taught in the first-year legal research and writing program. And, as usual, the reference desk has been busy throughout the semester with a wide variety of questions, including legal research and writing assignments, seminar papers, the annual federal tax research assignment, and law review source and cite checks, to name a few.

As this busy fall winds down, we want to congratulate first-year students on completing the legal research exam and to wish everyone good luck on their upcoming final exams!

Looking for Larry?

If you need to find Larry Baumgardner for help with technology support, please note that his office has moved to room #140A, which is the technology workroom in the corner on the south side of the library. His phone extension (2842) and email (l-baumgardner@onu.edu) will stay the same.

Coming Soon: Library Construction Projects

As many of you already know, the library reading room will be undergoing renovation in the summer of 2008 to become the Hanson Reading Room in honor of Eugene Hanson, who served as dean from 1958 to 1973 and oversaw great expansion of the law school.

In order to be fully prepared for this renovation project next summer, we will need to complete a number of smaller projects in the coming months. This will include moving various microfiche and book collections and reconfiguring some of the spaces adjacent to the reading room. The first phase of our renovations will begin over Christmas break.

Starting next month, we will be providing regular updates on each phase of the project. Please let us know if you have any questions about our renovation projects.
